

With Retail Writhing, What's The Secret Of A Successful Mall?

Commercial Observer — Liam La Guerre

June 28, 2017

Acadia Realty Trust and Washington Square Partners would prefer not to call their new Brooklyn development City Point a "mall." But, respectfully, it has all the trappings: There's the large department store anchor—Century 21—which opened last fall. There are the nationally recognized retailers like Target and Trader Joe's, both opened this year.

To read the full article, please click the link below:

With Retail Writhing, What's The Secret Of A Successful Mall?