

What Investors Need to Know

DS News— Seth Welborn

June 17, 2019

According to Wells Fargo’s “2019 Midyear Outlook Eyes Forward: Opportunities and Challenges” report, 10-year economic expansion is not over. In the report, Darrell Cronk, President of Wells Fargo investment Institute (WFII) and Chief Investment Officer of Wealth and Investment Management at Wells Fargo, notes that investors now need to “realign their portfolios with their long term goals.”

“The theme we adopted at the beginning of 2019, ‘the end of easy,’ still resonates,” said Cronk. “The first half of 2019 has delivered exceptionally strong capital market returns across most major asset classes. However, there are risks for investors to keep an eye on such as a meaningful yield-curve inversion, continued volatility in equity markets, and heightened geopolitical tensions.”

To read the full article, please click the link below:

What Investors Need to Know